

Essential Skills Training Module - Tips and Suggestions for Facilitators

Here are some tips and suggestions for facilitators who plan on presenting the Essential Skills Introduction - PowerPoint Presentation to a group.

Before the Presentation

- Go to the OSP website at www.ontario.ca/skillspassport and click on Introduction and Tips.
- There are tips sheets which provide an overview of the OSP website for different stakeholders such as teachers (on the Ministry of Education version of the site) and employment specialists (on the Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities version of the site).
- Review key sections of the site including the sections below which are featured in the PowerPoint presentation.
- Go to the Essential Skills section to view a definition of each Essential Skill. Click on any skill title to view descriptions of skill levels.
- Click on Videos of Essential Skills and Work Habits in Action to see how people use their Essential Skills and work habits in everyday life.
- Search for Tasks by Occupation and In Work, Learning and Life. This can help learners see how they have demonstrated these skills in different contexts and gather information to include in their résumés.
- Go to the Resources and Links section to access the OSP Overview for Learners and other resources designed for use in a wide range of educational and training contexts.
- Go to SkillsZone. Review the games, interactive learning resources and sample activity database.
- Click on Assess skills through an interview. The OSP Check-In Tool has sample Essential Skills task sheets in everyday life. The Action Plan may also be of interest to participants.
- If you have Internet access, consider visiting some of these sections of the OSP site as you progress through the presentation. Some of the images and icons are hyperlinked to videos.

- Review the PowerPoint to see if you would like to enhance any sections by referencing specific programs or resources that would be of interest to the group. Facilitators are encouraged to adapt the presentation to meet the needs of the group.

Materials/Handouts for Participants

- Bring decks of cards to the presentation. You can make the “card game” section interactive by bringing decks of cards for participants - then participants can experience different complexity levels themselves.

Print copies of the following for each participant:

- Essential Skills and Work Habits Reference Sheets from the Resources and Links section of the OSP website. Participants may find it helpful to have a list of the Essential Skills they can refer to as you progress through the presentation together.
- Practice Sheets for Reading Text, Document Use and Numeracy. Depending on the length of the presentation, you may choose to incorporate these practice sheets into an activity after the presentation or you may simply want to include them as handouts that participants can review on their own.
- Group Activity Sheets – Estimate Detail Form. This sheet is needed for an activity that is included in the PowerPoint presentation on Slide 34.
- OSP Overview for Learners or OSP Overview for Job Seekers and Learners (depending on the group). These documents are located in the Resources and Links section of the OSP website. Please see the “post presentation” ideas listed below.
- Placemat – Participants can refer to this during the presentation and it also provides a nice review.

Post Presentation Activity Ideas

- Distribute a copy of the OSP Overview for Learners or the OSP Overview for Job Seekers and Learners to each participant. If the group has access to the Internet, participants could explore sections of the website featured in these documents or this could be an independent activity after the presentation.
- Choose an OSP Self-Assessment and/or activities that may be of particular interest to the participants.
- Choose Essential Skills sheets from the OSP Check-In Tool to discuss tasks in everyday life.
